SUMMARY

I am an experienced full-stack developer with expertise in Python and Django. I have worked for six months at Orion Informatics and completed a four-month internship at Regional Institute. Through these experiences, I have gained a strong foundation in software development and web programming. My proficiency in Django enables me to develop robust web applications and come up with innovative solutions for clients. My exceptional problem-solving skills and attention to detail make me a valuable team member. I am dedicated to learning and keeping up with the latest technologies to ensure excellence in my work.
